SET APART $17,600 FOR FIRE APPARATUS

City Council Refers Petition To Limit Number of Carnivals

LIGHTS FOR SUBURBS

Will Elect Five School Trustees at Next Meeting—To Compel Railway to Take up Switch on King Street

The first meeting of the city council since its summer recess, which was taken July 22, was held last night and a large volume of business was disposed of. Council was in session two and a half hours.

On recommendation of the fire and finance committee the sum of $17,600 was appropriated to complete the motorization of the city fire department. Of this amount the sum of $10,000 will be used to purchase an American La France engine and $3,800 each for two Brockton hose wagons. The old steamers will be kept as reserve engines it was stated. Attention was called to the fact that recently the fire apparatus has responded to false alarms of fire beyond the city limits in the neighboring counties, and it was stated by some of those present that it is perfectly proper to go when there is a serious conflagration in progress but not otherwise.

Resolution increasing the salary of the chief of the fire department to $50 a month effective November 1 was referred to the joint committee on fire and finance.

Resolution appropriating the sum of $2,000 for the installation of a heating plant and other improvements at the Reliance engine house was referred to the public property and finance committee.

The lower board adopted a resolution appropriating $700 for new roof and other improvements for the Columbia engine house. The aldermen however, non-concurred and referred the matter to the finance and public property committee and the lower board then concurred in their action.

J. M. Otey, clerk of the city of Lynchburg, sent a communication to council setting forth that nine counties in the state paid during the fiscal year $149,842.09 more than paid back to them by the state treasury, and that the remaining ninety-one counties were paid out of the state treasury $1,533,859.10 more than they contributed, causing a loss to the state of $1,384,017.01.

It was set forth that the cities, as shown by the records, paid into the state treasury sum of $2,401,068.28 more than paid back to them. This deplorable condition, it was claimed, is due to the present inequitable system of assessment in the counties.

Suggestions were made to increase the taxes, in order to make a more uniform system for the whole state. This was referred to the finance and general laws committee.

The clerk of the city school board, Gilbert J. Cox, submitted a notice that C. R. Yates, member of the board from the first war, had resigned, and that the term of the following trustees had expired.

Gilbert J. Cox, first ward; W. F. H. Finke, second ward; W. H. Hellmuth third ward; T. C. Howard, fourth ward.

The lower board decided to hold a joint session next Tuesday night. The aldermen, however, declined the invitation, hence the election of trustees will go over for two weeks.

The special committee, of which Mr. Baggett is chairman recommended the removal of the switch of the Washington-Virginia Railway Company on King street between St. Asaph and Columbus streets within sixty days, and that if not done steps be taken to have it removed at the expiration of that time. This was the city hereafter be limited to three a year, none to remain more than a week at a time and that the license tax be fixed at $200 a day. It was stated that not less than fourteen carnivals came to Alexandria during the season just closed. The matter was referred to the finance and general laws committee.

The Chamber of Commerce petioned that the number of carnivals in adopted.

Resolution that council place eighteen forty candle power electric lights in West Rosemont and nine in East Rosemont and six in George Washington Park was adopted.

Petition of L. Morgan Johnston for gas mains to connect up with his new subdivision in West Rosemont, where he is erecting twenty-four houses, was adopted following a debate.

Petition signed by the Rosemont Citizens' Association asking for adequate light and police protection and improvements to streets was referred.

The city school board, through W. F. H. Finke, chairman, recommended the purchase of the lot at the southwest corner of St. Asaph and Wolfe streets from Miss Margaret V. Smith at a cost of $3,000 and it was referred to the committee on finance and schools.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company served notice on council that on November 10 it will apply to the state corporation commission for permission to increase its rates. This was referred to the corporation attorney.

Petition signed by a majority of property owners on Royal between Cameron and Queen Streets, asking for an improved street, they agreeing to pay two-thirds of the cost was referred to the committee on finance and streets.

Petition of Mutual Ice Company to leare lot from city at Pitt and Princess streets was referred.

The lower board granted the Alexandria Fertilizer and Chemical Company permission to erect a wooden bag shed 80 by 40 feet at the northeast corner of Queen and Union streets, providing it is not on city property. The aldermen, however, refused to concur until the matter is thoroughly investigated. Permission was granted the Alexandria Lumber Company to erect shed on the lot at the northeast corner of Alfred and Wilkes streets.

Resolution of Councilman Kaufman appropriating $12 a year for extension telephone in office of Chief Goods at police station was adopted. The mayor was authorized to issue quit claim deeds for lots to S. H. Lunt in George Washington Park.

Petition of Leo M. Sweeney to lease armory hall for three months at $60 a month was referred to finance and public property committee. Petition of Miss Alice J. Burleigh, to erect kitchen at 1200 Prince street was granted. Petition for sewer in alley bounded by Fairfax, King, Lee and Prince streets, was referred to street committee.

Communication regarding opening of Reinicker's lane and that same be made fifty feet wide instead of twenty feet, referred. Bills amounting to $19.50 and $20.56 for work done at army during home coming week celebration were referred to general laws and finance committee.

Petition of U. S. Clark for garage at 719 Duke street was referred as also was petition for sewers on Gibbon street between Alfred and Henry street and on 700 block North Washington and 600 block North Patrick street. L. J. Dyson petitioned for permission to erect garage in rear of 1004 Prince street and it was referred to street committee. Petition of J. Reece Caton to rent old Relief Hook and Ladder building on Prince street at $10 a month was referred.

Board of Aldermen

A few papers of miscellaneous nature were presented in the Board of Aldermen and referred. The board concurred in the action of the Common Council on all papers sent in, but declined to meet the lower board in joint session Tuesday night.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear son, Albert Speiss, who left us suddenly one year ago today, October 15, 1918.

My thoughts are always wandering
To the grave not far away,
Where my boy is lying
In his peaceful and lonely grave.
I can never forget you dear Albert
While in this world I stay
God only knows my feeling
Since you passed away.

246-1p. By his mother and father.

In loving remembrance of my dear son, C. Harry Bayliss Maulen, who departed this life one year ago October 15, 1918.

Rest, spirit rest,
I, too, will soon be with the blest
And then renew our happiness
Which on this earth so soon was past.

Mother, E. Frances Bayliss Mankin.
246-1p.

In sad but loving remebrance of our loving daughter, Cora L. Moore, (nee Wilkins,) who departed this life one year ago today, October 15, 1918.

We miss thee from our home dear daughter,
We miss thee from thy place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face.
We miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and earnest care,
Our home is dark without thee
We miss thee everywhere.
She has gone from her dear loved ones
Whom she willingly toiled for and loved as her life,
Oh, God; how mysterious, and how strange are thy ways,
To take from us this loved one in the best of her days.

By her devoted father and mother.
246-1p.

In memory of my dear mother, Cora L. Moore, who departed this life one year ago today, October 15, 1918.

Often to my heart comes a bitter cry
Why, Oh, why did my mother die,
Then comes an answer so solemn and deep,
Mother is only fast asleep.
From this world of grief and rest,
God has taken you dear mother
Where you will find eternal rest.
One year has past since that sad day
When the one we loved was called away,
God took her home it was his will,
But in our heart we love her still.

By her loving daughter, Annie.

PRESIDENT NOT OUT OF DANGER

Swelling of Prostrate Gland Causes Restlessness Yesterday

BETTER LAST NIGHT

Temperature, Pulse, Respiration, Heart Action and Blood Pressure Are Normal.

The following bulletin on the President's condition was announced at 10 o'clock last night by Dr. Grayson.

"The President has had a restless and uncomfortable day, but is better tonight."

The afternoon bulletin from the White House on the President's condition read as follows.

"The President did not have a restful night last night. His restlessness was caused by a swelling of the prostrate gland, a condition from which he has suffered in the past, and which has been intensified more or less by his lying in bed. His general condition, however, is good. As noted Monday his temperature, pulse, respiration, heart action and blood pressure are normal."

The first bulletin from the physicians introduced a new element in the President's illness and last night's bulletin, which told how he had passed a restless and uncomfortable day, was taken to indicate that the rest, which Dr. Grayson has declared to be so essential to the recovery of the President, had been rudely interrupted

Moreover, it was said at the White House last night that the President was by no means out of danger.

Dr. H. A. Fowler, a specialist of Washington, was summoned to the White House yesterday afternoon. He makes the fifth physician on the case. The others are Rear Admirals Grayson and Stitt, Dr. Sterling Ruffin, of this city, and Dr. Francis X. Dercum, neurologist of Philadelphia.

Dr. Fowler was able to relieve the President to a considerable extent and his treatment accounted for the portion of the night bulletin which said the President was better in the evening.

Mr Baker could not say what the strength of the American force in Silesia would be, but he had heard 5,000 men suggested as the probable number necessary to carry out America's part of the policing of Silesia during the plebescite in that country.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but lovng remembrance of our dear brother and son, Eligie C. Beach, who died one year ago today, October 15th, 1918.

My thoughts are always wandering
To the grave not far away,
Where my son is lying
In his peaceful and lonely grave.
I can never forget you Eligie
While in this world I stay,
God only knows my feelings
Since you passed away.
I stood beside his dying bed
And saw his life depart
And when I saw that he was dead
It nearly broke my heart.
I often sit and think of you
When I am all alone,
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.
As the time goes on
I miss you more,
Your memory is as fresh today
As it was the day you passed away
A precious one from us has gone
A voice we loved is still
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
Gone but not forgotten
(May his soul rest in peace)

By his loving mother, G. V. Harrison.

I grieve for you dear brother,
But not with outward show,
For the heart that mours sincerely
Mourns silently and low.

By his loving brother,
James E. Beach.

Sad and sudden was the call
One year ago today
Called from this world for a peaceful rest
Called by God who knoweth best.
I often sit and think of you dear Eligie
When I am all alone,
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.

By his loving brother, John S. Beach

In memory of our dear daughter and sister, Emma Rebecca Ridgeway, who departed this life one year ago today, October 15, 1918.

More and more each day we miss you
Some may think the wound is healed,
But only God knows the sorrow
That lies in our hearts concealed.
Our heart still aches for you dear Emma
Your loss we will ever feel,
You bore your suffering with smiling cheer,
And left a wound that will never heal.
The depth of our sorrow we cannot tell,
At the loss of one we loved so well
And while you lie in peaceful sleep
Your memory we will always keep
Although the circle is broken,
And parting has filled us with pain,
We hold a glorious token,
The bright hope of meeting again.

By her devoted mother, father and sister.
246-1p.

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear husband and father, Reuben F. Henderson, who died October 15, 1918, one year ago today.

Thou are gone but not forgotten
Fresh our love shall ever be,
For as long as there is memory
We shall always think of thee
Home is sad oh God how dreary,
Lonesome, lonesome every spot
Listening for his voice till weary,
Weary for we hear it not.

By his loving wife and children
246-1p.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband, Harvey Simpson who departed this life one year ago today, October 15, 1918.

I often sit and think of you
When I am all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Days of sadness still come over me
Tears of sadness silently flow
For memory keeps my dear husband near me,
Though Heaven claimed him one year ago today.
God has taken my dear husband
Where he will find eternal rest.

By his loving wife and children.

WHY NOT "ALEXANDRIA?"

The fifth steel steamship constructed by the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation at their plant in this city will be launched within the next few days. While each ship has painted upon its stern the words of "Alexandria," it has been suggested that one of these magnificent specimens of marine architecture should bear the name "Alexandria."

Ten ships, it is said, will be built here. Only one-half of this number will have been completed when the last ship leaves the ways. One, at least, might bear the name of its home port.

But few steamers in bygone years employed on the Potomac bore the name "Alexandria" on their paddle-boxes. Over fifty years ago one of the ferryboats operating between this city and Washington was known as "City of Alexandria." More recently a ferry boat which was brought from New York to this port and placed on the Washington route had the name "Vermont" erased and "Alexandria" substituted.

The words of "Alexandria" following the names of the mammoth steamers which have been built here are regarded wth pride by people of this city. But we would rejoice more to see one christened "Alexandria," or "City of Alexandria."

REVOLUTION IN PRINTING

As is generally known, the book and job printers of New York have unitedly gone "on vacation," which is their euphemistic way of describing a strike in contravention of their agreement with their employers. As a consequence the periodicals of the metropolis are hard hit. Some of them have had to suspend publication of the current issues; others have been issued in a smaller and less presentable form than usual.

Literary Digest has announced that its issue of October 18, an eighty-page magazine, will be printed without the use of type or typesetters and on regular schedule time.

The Baltimore Sun in describing the modus operandi of producing a modern periodical says "ordinarily the matter contained in newspapers and magazines is set up by compositors on linotype machines, the "lines of type" sufficient to fill a page are put together in a "form," of this form a "matrix" or impression of the type is taken, and from this matrix a lead plate is cast, which is affixed to the printing presses. While this process is followed with all ordinary reading matter, a different one is used for the reproduction of pictures, photograhs, cartoons, drawings, etc. With them metal cuts are laced in the forms referred to above and their impression is affixed to the matrix in the same way as is the impression of the type.

"The Digest has conceived the idea of reproducing its reading matter by means of cuts made by this photo-engraving process, in the same way its pictures are reproduced. Its articles will be written on the typewriter, the typwritten copy pasted in page form, and cuts and matrices of these pages made in the ordinary manner. In this way the use of type and typesetters, of linotype machines and compositors will be done away with.

"If the task is successfully accomplished and at a reasonable cost it is within the realm of possibility that a revolution will be wrought in the printing business. There is still more truth than platitude in the old adage that necessity is the mother of invention."

ISSUE BEFORE LEGISLATIVE

The fight over retention or abolition by the next general assembly of the state department of prohibition has been brought sharply into the spotlight by a correspondence (published in the Richmond News-Leader) between the two avowed candidates for the speakership of the house, and Albert O. Boschen, one of the Richmond delegation in the lower branch. In the correspondence in question Richard L. Brewer, Jr., of Nansemond, and Kenneth N. Gilpin, of Clarke, both candidates for the speakership, are questioned as to abolition of the office now held by the Rev. J. Sidney Peters and as to woman suffrage.

Mr. Gilpin answers specifically and plainly, while Mr. Brewer, if not evasive, is at least altogether non-committal. Mr. Brewer is said to be recognized as the candidate of those who would retain the office of the state commissoner of prohibition. Mr. Gilpin is emphatically against retention of the department favoring abolition in the interest of economy and the welfare of the state. In reply to the letter of inquiry from Delegate Boschen, Mr. Gilpin expresses willingness to become patron of a measure providing for the abolition of the prohibition office of prohibition commissioner, together with cancellation of the annual appropriation of $50,000.

A few weeks ago the supporters of Mr. Brewer were jubilent over what they regarded as his assured victory for the speakership. Today, while Brewer's following still claim a majority, they are worried by reported desertions to the camp of the opposition. Today the backers of Gilpin proclaim him a winner.

FALLS FROM BOAT; DROWNS

Kilmarnock, Va., Oct. 15.—Fred Hager, a traveling salesman for the Van Camp Products Company, of New York, was drowned in the Rappahannock river late Saturday afternoon. He was coming from Urbanna to Irvington on the small steamer that carries the mail between these places. Hager took a seat in a chair at the stern of the boat. When the boat was opposite Wharton Grove Camp grounds it was observed that Hagar and chair were both gone. The steamer immediately turned around and went in search of the missing man. The chair was found floating in the water, but Hager had disappeared.

Oystermen nearby are said to have heard his cries for help, but not knowing what was the matter did not go to his assistance. Efforts made to find his body have been unavailing.

BISHOP GARRIGAN DEAD

Head of Catholic See of Sioux City Dies After Long Illness

Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 15.—Bishop Philip J. Garrigan, head of the Catholic See of Sioux City, died here yesterday after a long illness, aged 79 years.

Bishop Garrigan suffered a severe attack of poisoning three years ago while attending the Archbishop Munrelein banquet in Chicago and, it is said, never fully recovered from the shock to his system.

Bishop Garrigan was born in Ireland and came to America at the age of 13 years. After becoming a priest, he served as head of several parishes in Massachusetts. Later he was made a vice rector of the Catholic University in Washington.

GERMANS VETO PLAN

Allied Step to Starve Russian Soviet Meets With Disapproval

Berlin, Oct. 15.—German will not approve of the proposed food blockade of Russia as a matter of principle. Nor will she actively join in that measure except under compulsion.

The government has not taken a position on the allies' note, but that attitude seems foreshadowed by an utterance of one of the ministers, who said:

"Having felt the terrible effects of the most brutal and inhuman methods of war, namely the hunger blockade, on our bodies, we cannot be expected to join willingly to inflict the suffering of death upon another people, against which we, ourselves protested as inhuman, though in vain.

"That disapproval or refusal on our part would not be out of friendship for Bolshevism, but upon the broad basis of humanity. It must not be forgotten that millions of Russians are not Bolshevists, and that there are also millions of women and children who cannot be held responsible for the Bolsheviki.

"The allied measure to exterminate Bolshevism strikes a vastly greater part of the Rusian people that are non-Bolshevist equally hard. It would almost appear as if on the day the treaty of peace is to be effective the league of nations announces its birth with war in a different but in principle and application more cruel and inhuman form."

CABINET TAKES REINS

Prepared to Assume Activities of President During His Indisposition

The Cabinet met yesterday and prepared to assume as many as possible of the activities of President Wilson for the remainder of the period of his illness and confinement. This means, in short, Cabinet operation of the executive branches of the government until the President is well enough to resume his duties or at least sufficiently recovered to guide the Cabinet.

Action of the Cabinet, however, in proceeding to take over some of the functions of the Chief Executive was deemed an indication that the President would be a sick man for a long time. It is believed to be a question of not weeks, but months before he will be entirely recovered, and on this point his physicians even declared he would have to remain confined for an "extended period."

With Secretary of State Lansing in the chair the Cabinet began an allotment of duties—such as the President would do—to its individual members.

Secretary Lansing, of course, will continue in charge of all foreign matters and indeed all subjects that are now handled by the State Department.

HIRED CHOIRS

Opposed Prof. Foote Terms Practice "Absurd and Illegical" English Divine Speaks

Baltimore, Oct. 15.—Hired singers in churches were compared to hired mourners at a funeral by Professor Henry Wilder Foote, of the Harvard Divinity School, in an address at the opening session of the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the General Conference of Unitarian Societies here.

Professor Foote presented the committee's report for uniformity of workship and spoke on "Public Devotions." He declared the hired quartet and all hired singing to be "absurd and logically indefensible." He pleaded for congregational singing.

Wood, president of the American Woolen company, who has started at the bottom to learn the business and is working as wool sorter in the storehouse of the Washington mills at Lawrence, where this picture was taken. He gets $10 a week and has what is regarded as the toughest job in the place. He enlisted in the navy as a gob, won a commission as ensign in a competitive examination and was discharged as a lieutenant, junior grade.

Doubtless True.

A friend of ours whose books of verse have been listed with the "best sellers" recently received a jolt that might have discouraged some writers.

Having some curiosity to see how this latest production was being received he went into a department store and inquired of the sales girl:

"Have you Twanglyre's new book of poetry?"

"No," the girl replied, "but we have lots of others just as good."

We'll Bet She Did.

They were seeing San Francisco. They had done Chinatown, the seals, a couple of museums and the spaghetti tunnel in Bay street. The evening found them in Peacock alley watching the Frangipani parade. Finally one of them had an inspiration. She turned to her companion.

"Do you like art?" she queried.

"Oh, law, yes. Whenever I hit a big city with an artery in it I always blow in."

WAYS OF EARNING MONEY DURING SUMMER VACATION

Many Opportunities Open to Children Who Wish to Encourage Habits of Thrift and Saving.

A great many questions about how children may earn money in order to purchase Thrift and War Savings Stamps during the summer vacation period have come into the War Loan Organization at Richmond, and it is to answer these inquiries that the present article has been prepared.

The suburban or country child probably has the best opportunities for making money, though selling papers and magazines, running errands and doing chores offer several ways for the city child to earn the where-with-al for Thrift Stamps.

In the country there is first of all the garden, and at this time growing food stuffs should receive special attention. It is not too late to plant fall crops which may be marketed with profit. Lettuce and radishes are easily grown and always find good markets, especially in the late summer and fall. There will probably be more of some kinds of vegetables in the garden than can be eaten or canned. These should be sold.

On almost every farm there is a time when much of the fruit ripens at once, and the problem of disposing of it arises. Some of it is eaten, some preserved. A quantity of it not infrequently rots. This should be sold if there is a market near enough, but if such is not the case the children can put it up and sell the canned stuff in the fall.

Pigs, chickens, turkeys or rabbits are easily raised in the summer vacation, and all of them will bring in large returns for the time and labor. Berry picking is another way of making money that children should enjoy, and this year there is a plentiful crop.

Many mothers and fathers will be glad to pay the children for taking care of the yard, cutting wood, running errands or doing daily chores. In fact there are so many ways of earning money during the summer that the list might be indefinitely lengthened. But of course the object of any and all of these ways is not simply to make money, but to make and save money; in other words, enough to buy War Savings Stamps which will bring in four per cent interest, compounded quarterly.

You can do this, every boy and girl in this big country.

BEN FRANKLIN EARLY LEARNED FRUGALITY

Great American Exemplar of Thrift Knew Value of Regular and Systematic Saving For Future.

Thrift is not stinginess. In fact it is more often than not that the thrifty man is the one who is truly generous. Benjamin Franklin, our national exemplar of thrift, was, from boyhood up, always liberal and unselfish. Rene Bache, his great-great-great grandson, gives an instance of this characteristic of his ancestor in a story he tells:

"The price of bread two centuries ago was a penny a loaf. Thus it happened that Benjamin Franklin, a boy of seventeen, on arriving in Philadelphia, was able to buy three loaves for three-pence; and with them he walked up Market Street from the wharf, holding one under each arm and eating the third. An hour later he gave two of them to a woman and her child who had been fellow voyagers up the Deleware."

Rene Bache goes on to say of Franklin: "Where his own expenditures were concerned he was always frugal, saving what he could out of his wages as printer, while his fellow-workers spent theirs as fast as they got them, or faster. In this way it came about that, while a mere youngster in a printing office, he lent them money every week.

"Though the earnings of most of them were greater than his, he was capitalist. By the middle of each week they were penniless, and came to him for loans to carry them over until payday. He would accept no interest, but each Saturday, on getting their money they gave back to him what they borrowed—only to repeat the borrowing a day or two later."

The secret of Franklin's success was systematic and persistent saving, from the time he first began to earn money. And always having a savings fund he was ever ready to grasp his opportunities—those of lending a helping hand as well as those of self betterment.

Let Benjamin Franklin be your example—start saving today. Thrift Stamps are an easy beginning and pave the way to a certain future.

Overland 4 After Two Years of Actual Demonstration Is Officially Announced

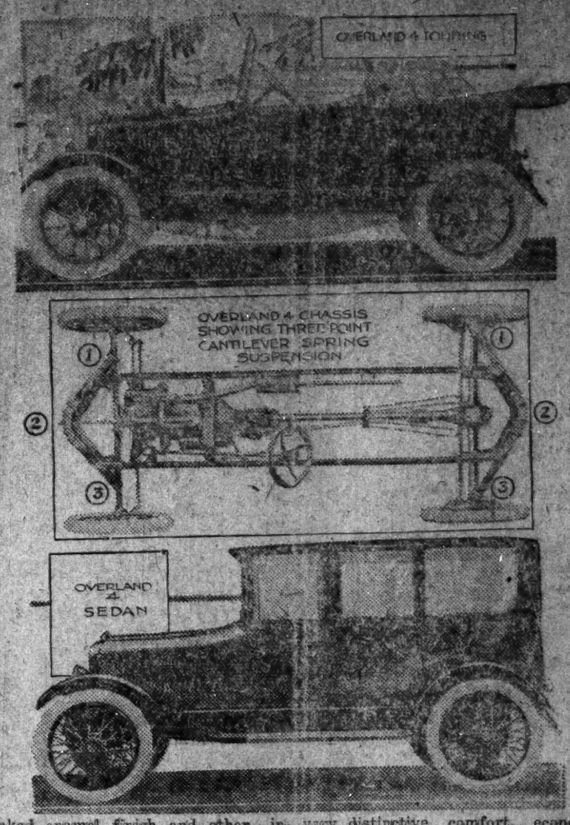
Unusual Public Interest Has Been Centered in This Latest Model

NEW TYPE OF SPRINGS

Three-Point Suspension Design is Introduced for First Time

BIG CAR COMFORT IS CLAIMED

Willys-Overland Asserts Springs Are Greatest Improvement in Motor Cars Since Pneumatic Tires



Overland 4, the new car of light weight construction for which the public has been waiting since its introduction was first rumored at the automobile shows about two years ago, was placed on exhibition in salesrooms of The Aero Auto Co., 1101 King Street, this week.

The men and women who inspected the Overland 4 today were representative of the visitors to Overland salesrooms in a thousand cities, towns, and hamlets of the United States. The company's dealers, from Maine to California, and from Washington to Florida, now have on display one or more of the new models described as embodying "the greatest improvement in riding comfort since the introduction of pneumatic tires."

New Type of Springs

This improvement is the use of three point suspension springs. Unusually graceful in body design Overland 4 makes a splendid impression on the visitor. It was this new spring suspension, however, which absorbed motorist attention at the salesrooms. It is a combination of two principles that have been used to greatest advantage in automobile construction: First, that of cantilever springs; second the flexible three-point construction.

The luxurious riding comfort these springs furnish the car was immediately understood and appreciated. It is this feature which gives to the new Overland car, designed for light weight, that degree of riding comfort and security hitherto possible only in high-priced, heavier cars.

But this is only one of many features in Overland 4 which back the Willys-Overland Company's claim to success in giving the public "a new standard of riding comfort."

The actual creation of Overland 4 began more than two years ago. The last two years have been devoted to testing and perfecting each part of the cars. Back of its development stand ten years of successful manufacturing and engineering experience in giving the public good motor cars. For the immediate development and production of Overland 4, John N. Willys has concentrated the vast resources of the Willys-Overland Company. Production will be on a scale which will assure the greatest economies in manufacturing.

Ideal Guide Design.

Guiding the development of this remarkable new car was Mr. Willys' ideal of a motor car which would combine with the economy of light weight all the comfortable riding qualities and the stamina of the heavy and expensive automobiles. He proposed a car of built-in quality which would free the owner from all possible up-keep expenses. This was not possible, the company claims, until the Willys-Overland Company devised this interesting three-point spring suspension, a spring seating radically different from the conventional design of four springs paralleling the chassis frame. Now as this spring suspension is, it is interesting to note that the design has been approved by the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Before the final adoption of the new springs, special breaking and bumping machines were rigged up at the factory, and the cars, after that supposedly destructive test, were sent out on trial trips which carried them into every section of the country in all sorts of weather conditions. The cars were driven over the Rocky Mountains, through the desert roads and boulder stretches of the southwest, over the sagebrush and sand of Texas, and through the mud and clay of the Missouri Valley. A two years' test, covering 250,000 miles of travel! The car satisfied the company's engineers that it was right. The war period which held up production was devoted to an exhaustive perfection of car details, refining the quality and economy features.

Without emphasizing such features as an unusually attractive appearance, the all-steel body with an oven-baked enamel finish and other interesting details it may be said that motoring interest centers in four new and distinctive features of Overland 4. These features, each worth the motorist's study, are:

Springbase, Not Wheelbase.

First, of course, the three-point cantilever spring suspension. The springs on Overland 4 extend fifteen inches from a point on the chassis beyond the axles at front and rear, giving a wide diagonal shape to the springs. The car has thus an actual springbase of 130 inches, although the car wheelbase itself is 100 inches. Each spring flexibly responds to its task of keeping the body and passengers riding on a constantly even keel. Bobbing, sidesway, and lurching are materially lessened. The result is a roomy, easy-riding car on a new type of springs so designed as to absorb road shocks from the worst of pavements or roads. The Willys-Overland engineers make the unusual claim of having produced a car that rides well on any road.

Second—Economy. The new springs so protect the car from road shock as to make possible much lighter weight and hence a great saving in fuel and tires. Furthermore, the car is so simple and accessible that costs of upkeep and repairs must be greatly reduced. Yet the car's parts have a protected accessibility—a big factor in upkeep. The car is assembled from five units only. The chassis is clear of all involved mechanism. The entire assembly requires only 50 bolts. The engine is a remarkably high-grade, thoroughly up-to-the-minute power plant, compact and simple. The neatness and cleanness of design bespeak the ready accessibility to all parts.

Third—Quality. Specifications indicate that the Overland 4 has been built in each part of the finest quality steels and steel alloys. The car's parts have been machined within the closest possible limits, permitting a quality of construction equal to that of a hand-made product. Inspection starts at the steel mills where the company has stationed expert metallurgists to test every heat of steel and the inspection ends only with the owner's driving the car away. The stock reaching the factory is thus all first grade through many inspections. This itself is a new feature in automobile construction. The body is all-steel with an oven-baked enamel finish. The construction is simple and the balance of parts to part is unusually fine. The car has been designed light weight.

Unusually Complete Equipment

Fourth—Bountiful and complete equipment. In every detail from demountable rims to Auto-Lite starter, lights and horn, the equipment of Overland 4 appears to have been planned with a single view of comfort, convenience, and long service. All seat cushions, which are detachable like those in a pullman, are upholstered with the luxurious Marshall Divan springs. The windshield is slanting rain vision. The one-man top, curtains and cushions are Duratex. The horn button is in the center of the steering wheel. The controls are all mounted on a keyboard on the cowl in instant and ready reach.

All in all, Overland 4 impresses its visitors as being a motor car value of very distinctive comfort, economy, quality and convenience. It will be marketed in four body styles: A Sedan at $1,375; coupe at $1,325; touring car and roadster at $845, f. o. b. Toledo.

Interesting Details Feature

The motor of the Overland 4 is cast en bloc with a removable head. It has generous valve opening.

The lubricating and oiling system require no pumps. The oil is circulated by pressure automatically created and the water is circulated by the Thermo-Syphon system or natural cooling method. No power is required of the motor to operate these systems.

The steering apparatus is of the planetary gear type with the gears at the bottom of the steering column. By this arrangements all the strain is taken at three points instead of at one.

The clutch is of the single plate type now used by 71 per cent of the motor manufacturers. The selective gear transmission has three speeds forward and reverse. It operates in oil.

The car is equipped with two brakes—foot and hand. These work on 10 inch drums on each wheel and to assure safety are larger than necessity demands.

Keyboard Control

Upon the instrument board, or "keyboard" as it is called on the Overland 4, is centralized the hand throttle, spark and choke control, and the ignition and electric buttons, together with the speedometer dial and current indicator.

In addition to the handle throttle there is a foot accelerator handily placed. The clutch and brake pedals are adjustable to reach.

The wide, deep seats of the Overland 4 supplement the Three-Point Suspension Springs and comfortably accommodate five passengers. The cushions are equipped with Marshall divan springs. The upholstery throughout the car is long grain Duratex. All cushions, including the back and sides are removable. The one-man top also is of Duratex.

Body Is All Steel

One of the chief aims of the builders has been to maintain the highest standard of quality throughout the car in both the material and manufacture. This has been carried to the design and finish, the body details and the equipment.

The car has a stemaline body which is entirely constructed of steel with slanting windshield. The full-crowned fenders are of heavy sheet steel. The running boards are covered with linoleum, aluminum bound. The body and chassis are finished in hard backed enamel. The fittings are nickel and polished aluminum.

The car is equipped with an Auto-Lite two-unit starting and lighting system, headlights with a dimmer, dash and tail-lights, a magnetic speedometer, electric horn, spare tire carrier, extra rim, complete set of tools, tire repair kit, jack and pump. The tires are mounted on demountable rims.

Because of the unprecedented demands for the Overland 4, dealers for the time being are accepting orders for delivery to purchasers in the order in which requests are received.

"FLU" PREVENTIVE

Men Used to Breathing Germs Said to be Almost Immune

St. Louis, Oct. 15.—There is no indication of an epidemic of influenza this winter, according to speakers at the convention of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, in session here yesterday.

Col. Victor C. Vaughn, in an address, declared the fouler the atmosphere and the more bacteria one breathed the more immune he would be to disease. This was proved, he said, by stattistics compiled during the war, which showed that the greatest death rate from disease, was among men from rural districts.

"The city reared man," he asserted, "is accustomed to breathing filthy air, while the country bred man is not, and consequently a foul atmosphere will affect the latter sooner than the former."

UNIONS END STRIKE

New York Leader Says 50,000 Longshoremen Will be Back By Saturday

New York, Oct. 15.—Six of the largest longshoremen's local unions voted today to return to work, John F. Riley, chairman of the Longshoremen's strike committee, announced last night. These locals, he said, have a combined membership of 15,000 workers.

The backbone of the strike has been broken, declared Riley. He predicted that 50,000 men will back at work by Saturday.

SENATOR'S WARNING

Poindexter Charges International Revolutionary Movement Brewing

An international revolutionary movement is brewing in this country and unless immediate measures of suppression are taken the government of the United States will be strangled in its grasp.

This warning was sounded in the Senate yesterday by Senator Miles Poindexter, of Washington.

"The time has come," Senator Poindexter said, "when it behooves this government to suppress anarchy and defend itself if it is to maintain its full powers. The effects of international propaganda are already manifest in America and the time has come for the government to act, and act vigorously, else the government may fall. A government that cannot function must always fall."

Senator Poindexter introduced a resolution calling on the attorney General for a statement as to his policy in handling Bolshevists, I. W. W. agitators and anarchists. Action upon it was delayed until today.

"The purpose, motives and objects of the steel strikers at Gary, Ind., were clearly revolutionary," Mr. Poindexter said in support of his resolution.

"It appears from evidence already presented by the senator from Colorado, Mr. Thomas, that the strikers at Gary are not merely seeking to obtain higher wages, or shorter hours of labor, or improved condition of work. It appears clearly that their intentions go far beyond that, that they reach to the scheme of subverting the authority of the law and that means of subverting the authority of the government. In other words, it is a revolutionary movement.

Resolved by the senate and the house of delegates (a majority of the members elected to each house agreeing thereto), That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia be, and the same is hereby, proposed and referred to the general assembly to be chosen at the next general election of senators and members of the house of delegates, for its concurrence, in conformity to the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six of article fifteen of said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia section one hundred and seventeen, which is in the words and figures following, to-wit:

Section 117. General laws for the organization and government of cities and towns shall be enacted by the general assembly, and no special act shall be passed in relation thereto, except in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution, and then only by a recorded vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house; and except also in the case of cities having more than fifty thousand inhabitants, as hereinafter provided. But each of the cities and towns of the State having at the time of the adoption of this amendment a municipal charter may retain the same, except so far as it shall be repealed or amended by the general assembly; provided, that every such charter is hereby amended so as to conform to all the provisions, restrictions, limitations and powers set forth in this article, or otherwise provided in this Constitution.

The general assembly, for the purpose of this article, may classify cities according to their population, but the maximum population prescribed for any class shall exceed the minimum population for the same class by at least ten thousand. The general assembly, at the request, made in manner which may be prescribed by law, of any city having a population of over fifty thousand inhabitants, may grant a special form of government for such city.

Any laws or charters enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be subject to the provisions of this Constitution relating expressly to judges and clerks of courts, attorneys for the Commonwealth, commissioners of revenue, city treasurer and city sergeants.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Sec. 117. But each of the cities and towns of the State having at the time of the adoption of this Constitution a municipal charter may retain the same, except so far as it shall be repealed or amended by the general assembly; provided, that every such charter is hereby amended to conform to all the provisions, restrictions, limitations and powers set forth in this article, or otherwise provided in this Constitution.

(b) The general assembly may, by general law or by special act, or by grant in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution, provide for the organization and government of cities and towns with respect to and unaffected by any of the provisions of this article, except those of sections one hundred and twenty-four, one hundred and twenty-five (except so far as the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-five relate to the office of mayor and the power of veto) one hundred and twenty-six, one hundred and twenty-seven and one hundred and twenty-eight of this article, and except those mentioned in sub-section (a) of this section, as long as any charter in force at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, or any law amendatory thereof, for the city or town, and all ordinances enacted and the existing situation by such body shall have the same force and effect as if this section had not been enacted or adopted in accordance with the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-three of this article. But such organization and government shall apply only to such cities or towns as may thereafter adopt the same by a majority vote of those qualified voters of any such city or town voting in an election to be held for the purpose, as may be provided by law.

(c) The general assembly, at the request of any city or town made in manner provided by law, may grant to it any special form of organization and government authorized by sub-section (b) of this section, and subject to all of the provisions of that sub-section, except that it shall not be necessary for such city or town to thereafter adopt the same.

(d) Any laws or charters enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be subject to the provisions of this Constitution relating expressly to judges and clerks of courts, attorneys for the Commonwealth, commissioners of revenue, city treasurers and city sergeants.

(e) Any form of organization and government authorized by any provision of this section which may have been adopted heretofore by any city or town pursuant to any act of the general assembly enacted before such provision became effective, and which is now in operation, is hereby declared legal and valid ab initio, and shall have the same force and effect as if it had been authorized by this Constitution at the time of its adoption.

A RESOLUTION proposing an amendment to section 136 of article 9 of the Constitution of Virginia, and providing for publishing said amendment and certifying the same to the next session of the general assembly.

Resolved by the house of delegates, the senate concurring (a majority of the members elected to each house agreeing) That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia be, and the same is hereby, proposed, and referred to the general assembly to be chosen at the next general election of members of the house of delegates for its concurrence, in conformity with the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six, of article fifteen, of the said Constitution, namely:

BRAND LUDENDORFF

Vorwaerts, Socialist Paper, Calls Former War Chief Only a Theorist

New York, Oct. 15.—In an open press feud between Ludendorff and the Socialists, Vorwaerts makes a bitter counter-attack, says a copyrighted dispatch from Berlin to the World. "The old Roman generals after their lost battles plunged themselves on their swords," it says. "Ludendorff plunges into ink, Ludendorff continues his efforts."

Vorwaerts charges Ludendorff with cowardice.

"Where was Ludendorff when the catastrophe broke," it asks, "and when Noske, with a determined hand, gathered up the few remnants of the disintegrated army to save Germany from a Russian chaos? Ludendorff had run off to Sweden. Now that we again have relatively firm ground under our feet, Ludendorff has no higher ambition than to undermine the narrow foundation bearing the German state. Herr Ludendorff struts about in Achilles' armor. On a closer view he is nothing but a theorist."

NEAR FIGHT IN SENATE

Reed Keeps up Nagging Till McCumber in Anger, Advances Upon Him

Washington, Oct. 15.—During what was perhaps the bitterest colloquy that has taken place in the Senate since the treaty debate began, Senator McCumber, the insurging Republican, and Senator Reed, the insurging Democrat, clashed and a personal encounter seemed imminent when the presiding officer interfered with a ruling that silenced Mr. McCumber.

The difficulty arose over the Shantung settlement, a settlement which Senator Lodge in a vigorous address had attacked and which Senator McCumber, while not defending as satisfactory, supported as the only solution of the Japanese-Chinese issue short of armed intervention by the United States.

Senator McCumber had spoken for some little time, growing more and more direct in his declarations as he went along. Again and again Senator Reed interrupted the speaker and for a while Mr. McCumber patiently replied to the nagging tactics of Mr. Reed. But Mr. Reed so obviously was bent upon irritating Mr. McCumber that the latter finally declined to be interrupted even for a question.

Then turning to the Senate Mr. McCumber declared that only a few months ago Senators were acclaiming Japan as an ally; they were supporting her enthusiastically and all but embracing the Japanese as friends and brother in arms. But it now had come to pass, he charged, that these same Senators have turned upon Japan as an enemy, accusing her of playing the part of international thief and of having and holding stolen goods.

This statement aroused the indignation of Senator Reed. He challenged it as a violation of the rules of the Senate in that it impugned the motives, the loyalty and the patriotism of Senators. Just how this impugning came about was not easy to understand, inasmuch as it was Mr. Reed himself who had made the thievery charge against Japan, but he, nevertheless, pressed the point, and loudly demanded a ruling. Just as loudly Senator McCumber thundered across the aisle at Mr. Reed that bullying and bluffing and bulldozing did not go with him, or words to that effect.

In a moment the Chamber was in a state of tenseness. Senator Ball, of Delaware, the mildest, of men, was in the chair, and while he pounded gently for order, his pounding made little or no impression upon the Senators. Mr. Reed held his ground, demanding a ruling, while Mr. McCumber advanced threateningly toward him with clenched fist aloft, shouted a second time that he stood squarely upon his right, that he defied the Missourian to trample upon those rights, and that if Mr. Reed did not like that sort of language he knew what he could do about it.

Reed turned upon his heel, however, and walking away from his opponent said that he would withdraw his point of order. But this did not satisfy Mr. McCumber. The latter himself then demanded that the official stenographer read the statements which had been challenged and when they were read Mr. Reed returned to the center of the chambr and renewed his demand for a ruling. The chair then ruled Mr. McCumber out of order but before the belligerent Westerner surrendered, he served notice upon the Senate that he had not a work to take back, intimating very broadly to Mr. Reed that if the latter felt himself insulted, there were no rules of the Senate which applied outside of the chamber. But Mr. Reed, triumphant in the ruling of the chair, had no comment to make at the time.

Play?—well, rather, with a bunch of men who know how to play. These comrades of yours carry in their ears the sounds of great world cities, of booming guns, of swashing seas—sounds you will share with them and that will never die away.

And when you come home, you'll face life ashore with level eyes—for Uncle Sam trains in self-reliance as well as self-respect. The Navy builds straight men—no mollycoddles.

NUXATED IRON
A DRIVING FORCE
BEHIND KEEN SUCCESSFUL MEN AND WOMEN

When you think of the successful men and women you know—people who are doing things worth while—you will find that they possess force, vim and energy—the kind that simply brim over when the blood is filled with iron. Nuxated Iron by enriching the blood and creating new red blood cells, strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the weakened tissues and helps to instill renewed force and energy into the whole system. Three million people use it annually as a tonic, strength and blood-builder.

MAKE THIS TEST

See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form.

MAY-DAY PLOTTERS PLOTTERS.

Chicago, October 15.—Federal authorities at Gary, Ind., where military control was established by Major General Leonard Wood after the situation growing out of the strike of steel workers, expect to arrest in a few hours the alleged maker of the bomb exploded on the night of June 3 last in the doorway of the home of A. Mitchell Palmer, United States Attorney General, at Washington, and have obtained evidence clearing up the terrorist bomb plots of May Day and June 2, according to authoritative information here.

Evidence also hase been obtained, it was said, that revealed the entire terrorist organization responsible for the attempts against the lives of law-enforcement officials throughout the country who had been active in the rarests and prosecution of radicals.

The arrest of a number of radicals at Gary, Ind., in connection with May-Day bombing plots recalls the series of attempts launched on June 3 last to wreck public buildings and homes of Federal officials throughout the country.

TAP WINE BARRELS

Confiscated Liquor Disappears, but Three Containers Arrive Safely

Three barrels of wine consigned to the State Prohibition Department met with foul play while en route from Meherrin, Va., during the past week. The coveted goods had been captured by the authorities of Meherrin, and shipped by the magistrate, M. E. Gee on October 6, over the Southern Railway.

When officers of the department called at the freight office, they found three empty barrels which had been tapped, and drained to the last drop. The consignment bore the proper permits for the shipment of intoxicants, but no trace of the missing contents could be found. Prohibition Department said the freight and the empty barrels were delivered to the headquarters. The Southern Railway will be held responsible for the value of the wine, it was stated and there will be an immediate investigation.

BREAK FEARED

Labor Insistent That Industrial Parley Mediate Steel Strike

Washington, Oct. 15.—After a heated all day session devoted almost entirely to discussion of labor's proposal to arbitrate the steel strike, during which two attempts at postponement and a substitute resolution by Thomas L. Chadbourne, of the public group, met with defeat, the National Industrial Conference adjcurned last night without having taken other definite action than the appointment of three subcommittees.

Another attempt to obtain action in the steel controversy, however, will be made by members of the public group, headed by Bernard M. Baruch, through a new compromise proposal when the conference resumes its sessions today.

The labor resolution was laid before the conference yesterday without recommendation by the central committee, but with an amendment proposed in committee by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, providing that the arbitration committee be chosen by the conference groups "from members or non-members" of the conference. In reporting the resolution Chairman Chadbourne announced that while the resolution was favored by a majority of the members of the committee, it had received the negative vote of two groups and therefore could not be favorably reported.

A substitute resolution offered by Mr. Chadbourne failed to receive the approval of any of the three conference groups, although it was framed so as to avoid mention of the steel strike. The substitute proposed acceptance of Mr. Gompers' committee of six to adjust all all "serious labor disputes," its decision to be final, after an attempt to reconcile differences had been made by a joint committee of employers and employes. The labor representatives would be chosen both by those "out on strike and those remaining in the employ of the several companies."

The climax of the day's tense sessions, one of which was recessed in the midst of conclusion, came late in the day when Samuel Gompers, leader of the labor delegation, made an impassioned plea for intervention in the steel strike and reviewed the negotiations leading up to the calling of the strike on September 22.

Looking directly at Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, seated with the public group less than 15 feet away, the labor leader declared that the Steel Corporation had "acted like the Bolsheviki" in refusing to meet representatives of the other party in dispute. Judge Gary kept his eyes fixed on the labor leader's face throughout the speech, but made no reply when Mr. Gompers concluded.

THEATRES

Love and the relentless demands for justice are seen in a tremendous struggle in "A Girl at Bay," the Corinne Griffith picture which will be shown at the Richmond Theatre today. The beautiful and talented Vitagraph star seeks refuge from Justice in Love, but her own lovely personality is the bait in an amazing murder trap, which finally ensnares her, only to prove her innocence, in which she herself had lost faith.

The picture is adapted from the magazine story, "Hunt the Woman" written by Joseph Gollomb, and gives the star a role of exceptional dramatic strength.

GRAND THEATRE

The saying that an elephant never forgets was demonstrated at the Lasky studio during the rehearsal of some of the circus scenes of "The Clown," a thrilling photoplay of the sawdust circle, starring Victor Moore, which will be seen at the Grand Theatre tonight. In order to have everything correct, an entire circus was rented for three days. Among the animals was "Bill," a vicious elephant with a reputation as a "killer." No one was permitted near him and he was was used for exhibition purposes only.

Also Chapter 11th "Elmo the Mighty."

INGOMAR THEATRE

"The Sage Bush Hamlet," will be the feature at the Ingomar Theatre tonight with Wm. Desmond as the star.

JUDGE GARY'S VIEW

Corporation Head Shows Prosperity Depends Upon Open Shop

"Union control of the industries of the country means decay and the dropping of production,' said Judge Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, to the Senate investigating committee.

To emphasize his position Judge Gary said: "Such union control means this country cannot keep up in the race with the world."

In answer to the claim that the Steel Cororation officials refused to confer with the heads of labor organizations representing the employes, Judge Gary showed that the labor leaders do not work for the corporation and do not represent the men employed in the institution. He added that the Steel Corporation officials have always met with and discussed matters with their own employes, but have refused to confer with them as union men. "The big issue," he said, "is the open shop," which he says "means better methods, more production and more prosperity."

Denial of bad conditions prevailing in the steel mill districts and mistreatment of employes brings that important matter up to the decision of the members of the committee, which proposes to visit the cities where the works are located.—N. Y. Herald.

BACK GIVES OUT

Plenty of Alexandria Readers Have This Experience.

You tax the kidneys—overwork them—

They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back may give out—it may ache and pain;

Urinary troubles may set in.

Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills.

Alexandria people tell you how they act.

Mrs. Mary Williams, 914 Duke St., Alexandria, says: "About two years ago I was suffering terribly from kidney trouble. My back pained me so at times I could hardly get about. Nights, lying in bed, it seemed as though my back were broken. My kidneys acted much too freely and that broke my rest. Mornings I felt stiff and sore and could hardly get out of bed. I was completely run down. Doan's Kidney Pills soon gave me relief and after I had finished two boxes my kidneys acted naturally and the pains in my back were gone. I was entirely cured."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Williams had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

COL. HOUSE IMPROVED

New York, Oct. 15.—The condition of Col. E. M. House is very much improved, Dr. Albert R. Lamb, his physician, announced late yesterday. The improvement is so marked, Dr. Lamb said, that no more bulletins will be issued. As soon as Col. House is sufficiently rested, it was said, an X-ray examination will be made to detremine the exact nature of his illness.
